ABOUT THE ARCHIVE:

Drawn from Joseph Sabin's famed bibliography, this archive offers a perspective on life in the western hemisphere, encompassing the arrival of the Europeans on the shores of North America in the late fifteenth century to the first decades of the twentieth century.

This archive covers more than 400 years and more than 65,000 volumes in North, Central, and South America and the West Indies, including:

- Discovery and exploration of the Americas — accounts from British, French, Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch, and Danish explorers and adventurers.
- Colonisation — features both American and European views and firsthand accounts of colonial life.
- Slavery — memoirs, original speeches, lectures, sermons, discourses, reports to legislatures across America, pamphlets, books, and international essays.
- Cities and states — the social and political evolution of America's major cities and states.
- Civil War — a wide array of memoirs, political tracts, published legislative proceedings, and broadsides.
- Reconstruction — records that describe the reorganisation and re-establishment of the seceded states in the Union after the Civil War.
- American women — education, civil rights, domestic life, and employment.
- Native Americans — essays, booklets, treaties, land tracts, congressional speeches, journals, and letters that document social attitudes and personal experiences.
- Immigration — pamphlets, broadsides, speeches, articles, and books.
- Constitution — pamphlets, letters, speeches, and essays provide detailed information about the early political organisation of the American colonies.

“Sabin Americana is a collection of 29,000 digitised books, pamphlets, serials, and other documents that provide original accounts of exploration, trade, colonialism and more, published from 1500 to the early 1900s... The page number and image number of hits within the work are shown, making it easy to select a link direct to the relevant pages.”

Lawbook Co.

“The images are superb, and can be resized or reformatted for reading. Users can e-mail links and print a maximum of 50 pages at a time. Most likely to acquire this resource are large university libraries; four-year colleges and consortia should acquire it for the benefit of upper-level history students.

Summing Up: Recommended.”
