A NOVEL

Alice McDermott

NATIONAL BOOK AWARD AUTHOR
PULITZER PRIZE FINALIST AUTHOR
EDITOR'S CHOICE #7

"[McDermott] has outdone herself with an exquisitely conceived and executed novel that explores her signature topic, moral obligation, against the backdrop of the fraught time preceding the Vietnam War."
— starred, Kirkus Reviews

Tricia is a newlywed, married to an attorney on loan to navy intelligence. Charlene is a practiced corporate spouse and mother of three. In Saigon in 1963, the two women form an alliance as they balance the era's mandate to be "helpmeets" to their husbands with their own impulse to "do good" for the people of Vietnam. Sixty years later, Charlene's daughter reaches out to Tricia. Together, they look back at their time in Saigon, taking account of that year and of Charlene's altruistic machinations, discovering how their lives as women on the periphery have been shaped by the same sort of unintended consequences that followed America's interference in Southeast Asia.

"A lurid, tense, and compelling novel . . . Etter builds a lush and decaying landscape around a woman with an impossible affliction." — starred, Kirkus Reviews

A year into her dream job at a Silicon Valley start-up, Cassie finds herself trapped in a corporate nightmare. She also struggles to reconcile the glittering promise of a city where obscene wealth lives alongside abject poverty. Ivy League grads complain about the snack selection from a conference room with a view of unhoused people bathing in the bay. Start-up burnouts leap into the paths of commuter trains, and men literally set themselves on fire in the streets. When Cassie ends up unexpectedly pregnant at the same time her CEO's demands cross into illegal territory, Cassie must decide whether the tempting fruits of Silicon Valley are really worth it.

INHERITANCE ★
The Lost Bride Trilogy • Book 1
Nora Roberts

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR
EDITOR'S CHOICE #1

Sonya MacTavish is stunned to learn that her late father had a twin he never knew about — and that her newly discovered uncle has left her almost everything he owned, including a Victorian house, which the will stipulates she must live in for at least three years. She sees a painting by her father inexplicably hanging in her deceased uncle's office, and a portrait of a woman named Astrid, whom the lawyer refers to as “the first lost bride.” It's becoming clear that Sonya has inherited far more than a house. She has inherited a centuries-old curse, and a puzzle to be solved if there is any hope of breaking it.

MANNER OF DEATH
Robin Cook

EDITOR'S CHOICE #1

Due to Jack Stapleton's ongoing recovery from his near-death confrontation with a serial killer, his wife Laurie Montgomery, the NYC chief medical examiner, is carrying the load both at work and at home. She insists a pathology resident named Ryan Sullivan assist her on a suicide autopsy, and when Ryan himself appears on the medical examiner's table days later, an apparent death by suicide, Laurie's guilt compels her to try to understand why. Jack's autopsy on the resident opens the possibility that the death wasn't suicide but instead a staged homicide. Thus begins a dangerous inquiry into a highly lucrative cancer diagnostics company, which might just cost Laurie her life.

THE SIX

THE UNTOLD STORY OF AMERICA'S FIRST WOMEN ASTRONAUTS

Loren GrushINDIE NEXT PICK

"An inspiring story of the first American women to go into space, charting their own course for the horizon."
— Kirkus Reviews

When NASA sent astronauts to the moon in the 1960s and 1970s the agency excluded women. Eventually, though, NASA opened the application process to a wider array of hopefuls. From a candidate pool of 8,000 six elite women were selected in 1978 — Sally Ride, Judy Resnik, Anna Fisher, Kathy Sullivan, Shannon Lucid, and Rhea Seddon. Together, the Six helped build the tools that made the space program run. One of the group, Judy Resnik, sacrificed her life when the Challenger exploded. Everyone knows of Sally Ride's history-making first space ride, but each of the Six would make their mark.

SOME OF US ARE LOOKING ★

A County Kerry Novel

Carlene O'Connor

In Dimpna Wilde’s veterinary practice, a meteor shower has elevated the usual gossip to include talk of shooting stars, but there are also matters nearer at hand to discuss — including the ragtag caravan of young people selling wares by the roadside. One of their members is a beautiful young woman named Brigid Sweeney. On the night of the meteor shower, Dimpna finds Brigid’s body tied to a tree, her left hand severed. She has bled to death. The deeper Dimpna and Detective Sargeant Cormac O’Brien investigate, the more ominous the signs seem to be, laced with a warning that Dimpna fears will prove fatal to overlook.

Two years ago, a hostile Prime Minister launched the Monochrome inquiry to ferret out any hint of misconduct by any MI5 officer. But MI5’s formidable First Desk did not become Britain’s top spy by accident, and she has successfully thwarted the inquiry at every turn. Now the administration that created Monochrome has been ousted and Griselda and Malcolm are stuck watching as their career prospects are washed away. Until the eve of Monochrome’s shuttering, when an MI5 case file appears without explanation. It is the buried history of a classified operation in 1994 Berlin that ended in tragedy and scandal, whose cover-up has rewritten thirty years of service history.

A MURDER MYSTERY

Leonie Swann, translated by Amy Bojang

LIBRARYREADS PICK

"Swann creates a world so witty and playful that readers may need to keep reminding themselves that there really is a murderer out there, or in here. An antic, moving celebration of life's final chapters." — Kirkus Reviews

It has been an eventful morning for Agnes Sharp and the other inhabitants of Sunset Hall. A body has been discovered next door. Everyone is relieved the body in question is not the one they're hiding in the shed (sorry, Lillith). It seems the answer to their little problem with Lillith may have fallen right into their laps. All they have to do is find out who murdered their neighbor, so they can pin Lillith's death on them. Agnes and her geriatric gang step out of their comfort zone and tangle with sinister bakers, inept criminals, the local authorities, and their own dark secrets.

Ruth Helmuth tends her herd of goats, making her living from the milk and fiber she gets from them, all while running a farm and household by herself! How could she imagine the bishop suggesting she should give it all up to another family, who will “make better use of the space”? Enter widower Jonas Hershberger, father of a 4-year-old daughter. Jonas is in need of a larger place to house his growing business. Can two independent souls learn to work together for their mutual good? And will they be willing to explore what grows between them? Or will Ruth's fear and Jonas' caution kill their love before it has a chance to grow?

FOUNDING PARTISANS

HAMILTON, MADISON, JEFFERSON, ADAMS AND THE BRAWLING BIRTH OF AMERICAN POLITICS

H. W. Brands

To the framers of the Constitution, political parties were a fatal threat to republican virtues. They had suffered the consequences of partisan politics in Britain before the American Revolution. Yet parties emerged before the Constitution was ratified, and they took root in the following decade. The Federalists formed around Alexander Hamilton, James Madison, and their efforts to overthrow the Articles of Confederation and make the federal government more robust. Their opponents organized as the Antifederalists, who feared the corruption and encroachments on liberty that a strong central government would surely bring. The Antifederalists lost but regrouped as the Republicans, led by Thomas Jefferson.

Childhood sweethearts Nicole and Tom are a normal, loving couple, until a massive lottery win changes their lives. Soon they've moved into a custom-built Glass Barn on the grounds of Lancaut Manor. They have fancy cars, expensive hobbies, and an exclusive lifestyle. But the dream turns into a nightmare when Tom is found dead in the swimming pool. Nicole is devastated. But she's not by herself out there in the country. There's a nice young couple who live in the Manor itself along with their middle-aged housekeeper who has the Coach House. And an old friend of Tom's from school has turned up to help her get through her grief. Was Tom's death a tragic accident, or was it something worse?

THE FROZEN RIVER

A NOVEL

Ariel Lawhon

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR

Maine, 1789: The Kennebec River freezes, entombing a man in the ice. Martha Ballard is summoned to examine the body and determine cause of death. As the local midwife and healer, Martha records every birth and death, every murder and debacle that unfolds in the town of Hallowell. She also documents the details of an alleged rape that occurred four months earlier. Now, one of the men accused of that attack has been found dead in the ice. Martha suspects the two crimes are linked. Over the course of one long, hard winter, as the trial nears, Martha's diary lands at the center of the scandal and threatens to tear her family and community apart.
